VERDUGO PARK

F. H. EILERS ADVOCATES ACQUIRING PART OF IT AS PUBLIC PLAYGROUND

Editor Glendale Evening News:
Dear Sir: In regard to the present agitation for or against a pool hall, which has all at once come into prominence as a public necessity in the interest of our young men, would say that as Glendale is growing we are favoring many things for the betterment and welfare of our city, and as I will admit that something is needed for the recreation of young men, I would suggest first, let us get something that might benefit all of the community and be an attraction for others to come, that is, A PUBLIC PARK WITH IMPROVEMENTS BY THE MUNICIPALITY.

While we have now such a park in the northwestern part of the city, I was pleased to notice in your issue of, I believe, last Saturday, an article as to the possibility of acquiring Verdugo Woodlands, the great success which it is.

As final speaker on a long program in which the industrial prowess of the Southland was brought out in word pictures, Mr. Hall brought the enthusiastic after-dinner session to a climax when he said that everybody had spoken of Los Angeles in glowing terms but neglected to state that it was Glendale's Verdugo Woodlands, Glendale's financial, civic and club support and Glendale citizens' co-operation that had made this wonderfully successful open air "still" show of tractors possible.

Then it was that Glendale got its ovation by 600 of the most substantial business men of Los Angeles. The cheering was contagious and each time Mr. Hall reiterated the word "Glendale" during the course of his remarks, it was the signal electric for further demonstration.

Everyone present was happy over the outcome of this initial "still" tractor show—that is, one where no plowing demonstrations are made—and it was the consensus of opinion that a greater 1921 exhibit at Verdugo Woodlands, if possible, will result.

Maynard McFie, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, said that this show was the greatest single advertisement for Southern California's soil and climate and most representative western development of any event he had ever seen.

Other speakers included A. H. Hamburger, prominent store owner and director of the Community Manufacturing Co.; Harry Chandler, general manager of the Los Angeles Times; Professor Fletcher of the University of California; George Collins, secretary and Walter Gardner, director of the Northern California Implement Dealers' Association, and Attorney Binford.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH

FINANCIAL THERMOMETER WILL BE EXPLAINED BY A. W. TOWER TONIGHT

The First M. E. church people believe in conducting their financial affairs on a regular business basis, so they have their regular budget and a thermometer which keeps before the members at all times in large and conspicuous figures the actual financial status of the church, the condition of the debt on the building, etc. At the church supper to be held tonight in the basement of the building at 6:30, Prof. A. W. Tower will explain the workings of this mechanical device. Dr. W. E. Tilroe of Pasadena, who addressed last Thursday night's meeting, will be present tonight and give another of his original and forceful talks. All who heard him before will surely be present tonight to enjoy a like treat. A large attendance of church members is expected, both at the supper and the after meeting.

Band Concerts Please

The band concerts held Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at Brand and Broadway, have attracted large audiences and the music furnished has been greatly enjoyed. The American Legion band has done some intensive practicing since it was organized a few weeks ago and the playing shows the results of it.

District Y. M. C. A.

R. C. Kelley, the new district secretary of the Y. M. C. A., came here from Vallejo. He and his wife and their 6-year-old son are living temporarily at 320 East Lomita, but are looking for a permanent home. Mr. Kelley says the work is starting off splendidly in Glendale. At a meeting of the district committee and group leaders Tuesday evening, much work was planned and the action of the Ministerial Association on the pool-room question was indorsed.

IN NEW QUARTERS

GLENDALE COMMERCIAL SCHOOL PROGRESSING IN NEW LOCATION

When it became known that Borthick & Daniels were making the north building in their brick block on South Brand of two stories, Miss Vesey, of the Glendale Commercial School, promptly made arrangements to lease the upper floor, the builders to finish it according to her plans. Now the school is established in the new quarters, 224 South Brand, and all is doing well. There are seven rooms, three of them for the typewriting classes, so that the advanced pupils may not be disturbed by the beginners; and the others for book-keeping, shorthand and the common school branches that may be needed by the pupils. Thorough instruction is given in arithmetic, spelling and business English, the two latter branches of which so many High School pupils woefully lack. There are two instructors, Miss Vesey and Miss Sayre. The day pupils are all girls at present, but in the night schools boys preponderate. A public stenographer will be added to the force ere long.

Miss Vesey says she feels that now the school is in such handsome, convenient quarters, thorough work can be done, which seemed impossible in the former cramped locations.

APPLAUD GLENDALE

TRACTOR AND IMPLEMENT DEALERS AT BANQUET CHEER CO-OPERATION OF THIS CITY

The Alexandria hotel re-echoed with cheers for Glendale last night as the Southern California Tractor and Implement Dealers vociferously applauded this city at the conclusion of Manager Guy Hall's speech at the annual banquet of their association, in Los Angeles' foremost hostelry.

This ringing acclaim for the fastest growing residential city followed Mr. Hall's extolling of what Glendale has done to make the National Tractor and Implement Show, being held in Verdugo Woodlands, the great success which it is.

As final speaker on a long program in which the industrial prowess of the Southland was brought out in word pictures, Mr. Hall brought the enthusiastic after-dinner session to a climax when he said that everybody had spoken of Los Angeles in glowing terms but neglected to state that it was Glendale's Verdugo Woodlands, Glendale's financial, civic and club support and Glendale citizens' co-operation that had made this wonderfully successful open air "still" show of tractors possible.

Then it was that Glendale got its ovation by 600 of the most substantial business men of Los Angeles. The cheering was contagious and each time Mr. Hall reiterated the word "Glendale" during the course of his remarks, it was the signal electric for further demonstration.

Everyone present was happy over the outcome of this initial "still" tractor show—that is, one where no plowing demonstrations are made—and it was the consensus of opinion that a greater 1921 exhibit at Verdugo Woodlands, if possible, will result.

Maynard McFie, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, said that this show was the greatest single advertisement for Southern California's soil and climate and most representative western development of any event he had ever seen.

Other speakers included A. H. L. A. INVESTMENT CO.

C. C. CHAPMAN'S PURCHASE BRINGS JOY TO GLENDALERS INVESTORS

An announcement that will bring pleasure to several Glendale people and to investors in many Eastern states as well as California is that C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, multi-millionaire orange grower and oil producer, has bought the Los Angeles Investment Co. building for $1,600,000 and will soon begin to declare dividends on the stock of the company. When, about 5 years ago, Charles A. Elder and his associates of the Los Angeles Investment Co. were arrested, charged with wrecking the company the thousands of stockholders who had invested their savings in it and had been drawing regularly the large dividends paid, were fairly stunned. The value of the shares fell so rapidly that there was no sale for them. One Glendale man, Frank Follansbee of Riverdale Drive, had all his savings invested thus and his income was entirely swept away. Other Glendale citizens suffered similarly, though probably not to so great an extent. All will now profit by the rehabilitation of the company.

Dr. Camerer of 311 West Garfield avenue says that in Kimmunity, Ill., his home town and also Chas. Elder's, nearly every resident had invested in "Charles" company, and the sale to Mr. Chapman will bring relief to all these, also.

SLASHING OF PRICES

GENERAL REDUCTIONS BEING FORCED BY DROP IN FORD MOTOR CAR PRICES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—General reduction of prices of many necessities will be forced by the Ford automobile reduction, according to Wm. Lewis, treasury department economist.

Slashing of automobile prices is sure, Lewis said today. Other commodities to be affected are agricultural machinery, stoves, household hardware, building materials, and water proof clothing, he said.

"If the automobile makers who use high priced steel can cut prices, it is clear that other manufacturers using the same material must do so. The public's orgy of spending seems about ended."

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Price cuts of from 10 to 20 per cent in many lines of merchandise were shown in new catalogues issued by mail order houses here following the announcement of reductions in Ford automobile prices. The cuts included prices on men's and women's clothing, furniture and shoes. Food prices were not affected.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

VERSAILLES, Sept. 23.—Without serious opposition, Premier Alexandre Millerand was elected president of France by the National Assembly today. He succeeds Paul Deschanel, who resigned last week. Millerand's election had been conceded since the time it was announced Deschanel would resign.

Although radical troops desired Millerand's defeat, neither Ranol, Peret, or Leon Bourgeois would accept the nomination against him.

SAN FRANCISCO BOMB THREAT

AWAIT WARRANT TO ARREST BARRETT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—While police and the district attorney's office were today awaiting a warrant for the arrest of Capt. Wm. Barrett, son-in-law of John R. Drexel of Philadelphia, which was reported to have been issued in London, Barrett remained in seclusion here.

Yesterday he admitted his identity to officers, though he denied having anything to do with the theft of jewels worth $425,000 from Mrs. Wm. Spreckles, as reported from London.

mission to the youthful machinery enthusiasts and they were marched to the various exhibits of tractors and farm implements where the demonstrators and instructors showed them the different types and explained the purpose of various parts and attachments. The contingent represented the mechanical drawing, machine shop, wood, forge and automotive classes. The students will be required to take an examination on

At noon the classes returned to the High School and at 2 o'clock, the end of the seventh period, all classes were dismissed in order that everyone would have opportunity to visit the show on Glendale Day.

SHOW SIDELIGHTS

THRONGS GROW LARGER EACH DAY AT VERDUGO WOODLANDS DISPLAY

Today is Glendale Day at the National Tractor and Implement Show in Verdugo Woodlands and from reports at noon, attendance records are being shattered and it is expected that the park will be packed by 3 o'clock this afternoon as many business houses are closed for several hours.

The High School also closed at 2 o'clock and many young folks were in the throng seeing the wonderful display.

Among the first municipal officials to arrive at the Tractor Show this morning were Chief of Police C. E. Stanley and City Judge F. H. Lowe.

Yesterday was Orchardists' Day and a large number of sales were reported by the dealers. Saturday will be Bean Day and it is expected that large delegations of ranchers from Oxnard and Ventura districts will be present. Today the cotton growers from Arizona and Imperial Valley are the especial guests.

In order that many of the busy agriculturists in Southern California may see the tractor exhibits, the show will remain open Sunday.

Down by the babbling brook in a natural theater, Pinetti's 20-piece band gives a concert each afternoon. It is one of the enjoyable features of the show.

Then each evening at Broadway and Brand boulevard in Glendale, the American Legion band plays from 8 until 9 o'clock, which also is very enjoyable.

Yeoman Dance

The first of the series of dances held at Yeoman hall on San Fernando Road September 11th was such a success that the management has decided that there is a demand for this class of entertainment and are advertising another dance for Friday evening of this week. The dances will be held every other week hereafter. The hall is one of the largest in Glendale and able to accommodate a large crowd. Splendid music is being provided. So states Mr. Mercer who is in charge.

NICHOLSONS IN B. C.

FORMERLY OF GLENDALERE, NOW SETTLED IN FORMER HOME, VICTORIA, B. C.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Nicholson and family, who moved in August from North Central avenue back to their old home in Victoria, British Columbia, are glad to hear from them that they are delighted with their former home.

Miss Esther Black, 1450 Kenneth Road, has received letters from the two daughters, Sadie and Ruth, in which they describe the country as beautiful and green from the frequent rains. They report that the effects of the war are much more noticeable there than in the States, on account of the great number of wounded and maimed soldiers seen on the streets.

TO IMPROVE BANK

REMODELING OF BUILDING FOR L. A. TRUST & SAVINGS TO COST MORE THAN $15,000

A change that will mean much to the appearance of the Brand and Broadway section of the business part of Glendale is contemplated by officials of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank who have about completed arrangements for the remodeling of the building occupied by the Brand boulevard branch of the bank, at 104 North Brand boulevard. Plans for this work are now in the hands of A. R. Eastman, manager of the Glendale branches.

The improvements contemplated will cost from $15,000 to $20,000 and the banking rooms when completed will embrace the entire floor space of the building, taking in the rooms now occupied by the Grocerteria and Harry Chase Real Estate office. The Grocerteria will likely move to a building in the same block and the Bank officials hope to get possession of the entire building so that work may be commenced by November 1st.

When completed the bank will have a 70-foot front and there will be a five-foot space to the south that will always keep the building in the clear. The stairway now on the south side of the building will be changed to the north and will lead to rooms that will be remodeled and arranged for high-class office suites. Plate-glass windows will extend along the entire front and across the southwest corner giving a corner effect. There will be a tile floor throughout and of course the interior arrangement will be that of a modern bank.

The Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank has leased this building for five years with an option to continue the lease for five more years, virtually a ten years' lease.

CLAYTON SERVICE

DODGE BROTHERS' CARS CONVEY EVENING NEWS EMPLOYEES TO TRACTOR SHOW

George E. Clayton of the Dodge Brothers Agency in Glendale, said very emphatically this forenoon that his neighbors, the Evening News force, would not be required to walk to Verdugo Woodlands this afternoon to witness the sights at the National Tractor Show. Therefore Mr. Clayton promised to be on hand at 3 o'clock to transport the sixteen men and women from The Evening News office to the tractor grounds. Clayton will make good.

CITY BENEFITS

ADVERTISING IN MANY WAYS RESULTS FROM NATIONAL TRACTOR SHOW

Glendale—a city of homes—is enjoying much publicity at present and is due for great reward later as the result of the advertising caused by the National Tractor and Implement Show of the West being held within its environs.

All of which is due to a great extent to the cheerful way in which its citizens have entered into the entertainment of the many visitors motoring through the city or passing through on the car lines.

In the first place, all of the Tractor Show literature was a general advertisement for the city in that it bore the words, "Verdugo Woodlands, Glendale," as a component part of each and every announcement.

A second way in which much publicity has been obtained is through the articles appearing in the metropolitan press regarding the success of the Tractor Show at Glendale.

Third, the citizens of Glendale by their "Ask Me" badges and Tractor Show banners on their motorcars have brought more attention to the city.

The city administration, by carrying out a newspaper advertising campaign during the week which is addressed to strangers has been subject of much favorable comment.

As a fourth major form of advertisement and a method which is most commendable for further use, the information bureau conducted by a committee of Tuesday Afternoon Club Women has proved that this city should have a permanent headquarters for furnishing facts to visitors.

Glendale is going ahead as never before, strangers are arriving daily and the progress of the city seemingly demands a centrally located information bureau.

FORD PRICES DROP

WILL CAUSE GENERAL LOWER-
ING OF PRICES SOON
MANY THINK

It is impossible to foretell the effect of the big drop in the prices of Ford automobiles announced yesterday, but certain it is that Henry Ford has astonished the world and caused temporary chaos in Wall Street by this act. Many who give much thought to financial conditions declare this will mean a general lowering of prices on all commodities.

"This incident has shaken the financial world to its very foundation," said Jesse E. Smith, local Ford agent today. "Henry Ford by this act has made himself the greatest philanthropist in the world. His attitude toward his employees has always been evidence of his philanthropic nature, but when with one stroke of his pen he causes a loss of millions of dollars to his factory and makes it possible for thousands who could not otherwise do so to own cars, he placed himself in a class apart from all others."

This move, Mr. Smith thinks, will be the means of lowering prices on other cars and eventually on other commodities. The first twenty-four hours of the drop he sold twelve cars. "The drop," he said, "has caused many who were undecided between a Ford and a car a little higher in price or who were deferring the purchase of a car on account of high prices to decide immediately on a Ford. This is bound to have its effect."

Punishing Profiteers

For a long time now there has been much talk about profiteering in the necessities of life, and there have been demands that the profiteers be severely punished. When officials try to meet these demands they find themselves seriously handicapped. Many persons are quick to make charges of profiteering but they are not willing to back up their charges by becoming witnesses for the government.

The Lever act, under which prosecutions against profiteers are brought, is in itself a somewhat indifferent statement of the powers given to officials to regulate prices or to take action to compel the taking only of reasonable profits. Some federal judges dismiss cases that appear to the public to be plain instances of profiteering.

The public refused to buy sugar at the maximum price fixed by the holders of sugar and the price fell to a much lower level. Only the demands of the canning season sustained the market at present prices. The same treatment in other cases of exorbitant prices might have a similar effect.

The remedy for profiteering is in the public's hands any time it chooses to use it.

Politics to Fore

NEW YORK, Sept. 21. (United Press.)—Politics will be the paramount issue at the next convention of the American Legion, it was indicated today in replies to a survey just completed by the American Legion Weekly to ascertain the views of the legion's 2,000,000 members regarding the political restrictions clause in the war veterans' organization.

The sentiment, according to the weekly, is that a more liberal interpretation than general has been observed be placed on the clause in the constitution which forbids connection of the legion with politics. At present the clause reads:

"The American Legion shall be absolutely non-political and shall not be used for the dissemination of partisan principles or for the promotion of the candidacy of any person seeking public office or preferment. No candidate for or incumbent of a salaried elective public office shall hold any office in The American Legion, or in any Department or Post thereof."

The question of official participation in the present national campaign and in state and local political battles has been brought up several times, officials have said. At the Cleveland convention, which is to convene September 27th, it is regarded as likely that the whole phase will be brought out into the open for discussion and final settlement.

When will it stop? The price of a safety deposit box has now gone up. We've got less to put in 'em and it costs more to put it there.—New York Morning Telegraph.

Another proof that "all the world's a stage" appears in the fact that our bank roll has about the same buying power as stage money.—Columbia (S. C.) Record.

CUBAN ELECTIONS

FIRST REAL TEST OF ELECTORAL LAW FOR CUBA IN NOVEMBER

By A. L. BRADFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — The State Department here is awaiting the Presidential elections next November in Cuba with an interest probably second only to the Presidential elections in the United States the same month.

While the choosing of an American President will decide the future foreign policy of the United States, the elections in Cuba will determine whether the Cuban electoral laws as drafted by the United States Government are to prevent abuses and bloodshed in the selection of a Chief Executive of Cuba.

Although requested to do so by the Liberal Party, the American Government has decided not actually to supervise the elections in Cuba. It is stated officially, however, that the fact that "the United States may again be called upon by the Cuban people for a decision regarding the fairness of the election, makes it incumbent upon the Government of the United States to use all available means to observe the conduct of the electoral procedure in Cuba."

As is usual in Latin-America politics, intriguing interest of romance and adventure attaches to the impending selection of a President of Cuba.

The two main candidates in the Cuban elections are General Jose Miguel Gomez, of the Liberal Party, and Alfredo Zayas, candidate of the Coalition League; while General Rafael Montalvo is trying to establish his candidacy as the selection of the Conservative Party.

The Conservative Party in Cuba, on August 27th, formed a coalition with followers of Zayas, who was the candidate of the Liberal Party for the Presidency in 1916. By accepting Zayas, the Conservative Party threw over General Montalvo, who already had been proclaimed as the Conservative candidate for President. General Montalvo now claims that he was ousted from the candidacy through fraud and intrigue and that he still considers himself the Conservative candidate. He has taken his case before the Central Elections Board and says that if necessary he will bring it before the Supreme Court of Cuba.

This complicated political situation is made more bizarre by the following "line-up:" President Menocal is supporting the candidacy of Zayas; in the election of 1916, Zayas as the Liberal candidate opposed the present Cuban Executive; the present Liberal candidate, General Gomez, led the armed revolution against President Menocal after the 1916 election in support of the candidacy of Zayas; General Gomez is now opposing Zayas, at present the candidate of the Coalition League.

The United States Government is earnestly solicitous that there be no repetition after the impending election of the revolution following the election of 1916.

The Cuban election laws drafted by Major General Enoch H. Crowder, Judge Advocate General of the United States Army, and who mobilized America's great draft army in the World War, were brought into use in the elections of 1912 and 1916. In March of last year, at the invitation of the Cuban Government, General Crowder again went to Cuba to make a final draft of the electoral law, with a view of preventing a recurrence of certain abuses which had been practiced in the previous elections. This work was completed and the completed electoral laws enacted by the Cuban Congress in August, 1919. The November elections constitute the first real test of the American-written electoral law for Cuba.

Community Spirit

Hopewell, Va., is a very virile and growing example of the possibilities of a community spirit in a town.

Five years ago what is now Hopewell was a peanut plantation and a pine wood. Three years ago there stood Hopewell, the "wonder city of the war," with a population of 50,000, paved streets and other modern municipal improvements and thousands of model homes for its workers. Then came the armistice, and in three months Hopewell's population dwindled to less than 8000. It became a deserted city almost overnight because it was a one-industry town, and that industry dependent upon the war for its operation.

Though Hopewell might well have lost heart in face of so discouraging prospect and bleak future, its citizens at once began the task of putting it back on the map. Business men and chamber of commerce undertook to obtain new industries. The town and its advantages were advertised from one end of the country to the other. In less than two years more than a dozen industries have been induced to locate in the city, including a $4,000,000 Belgian silk mill and a large paper mill. Hopewell is "coming back."

Community spirit saved Hopewell when it was apparently about to suffer the fate that has overtaken countless "boom" towns in the past. There is a moral in Hopewell's achievement for every city and town in the land.

GLENDAL E

Romance has attended this fair section of the South since the long-ago, that happy, care-free era of California's history when the site of our now thriving city was a part of the big land grant given by the king of Spain to the Verdugo family, up to this day when many who are living in less-favored sections of the country are turning their eyes Glendaleward and planning and longing to make their homes in this garden spot, the city that has made the largest per cent of growth of any municipality in the land, with no industrial incentive, its great attraction being its right to the title, "City of Homes."

Believing that many of you who are our guests this week will consider becoming residents of Glendale we offer these few facts that we think will be of interest to you.

Glendale is especially favored as to location. Her charming setting in the foothills with the higher ranges of mountains rising above is often commented upon. Her proximity to Los Angeles, being distant only a half hour's ride by trolley is an advantage that is not to be overlooked. Two main boulevards lead from the larger city and another and shorter road is now being paved. Glendale's altitude of 600 feet; her clear air and delightful climate tempered by breezes from the Pacific that find access through the Ivanhoe Pass; her proximity to the beaches and mountains are all features that add to the delight of living here.

Glendale's municipal government is organized with special reference to the needs of a rapidly-growing city. There are branches to care for any problem that might arise in such a city, all under the care of a City Manager, acting under the direction of the Board of Trustees. There is a department of public utilities, a department for the improvement and maintenance of streets, a health department that is watchful of sanitary and health conditions, well-organized police and fire departments, and a forestry department devoted to the propagation of trees for parkway planting, and to the care of trees already growing in parkways.

Living costs in Southern California are lower than elsewhere in the United States according to those who come here from other sections. Glendale enjoys this natural advantage along with her sister cities and in addition she has the distinction of furnishing electricity and water at a lower rate than any other city in California. This is due to the fact that the municipality several years ago purchased these utilities and organized a department of public service which has been conducted in a way to give the people the best possible service at the lowest possible rate consistent with good business. The people have never been taxed for the purchase of these utilities, the department being managed in such a way that it has been able to pay off all indebtedness as it became due.

Glendale's growth has astonished even her own people. Twenty years ago Glendale was not an incorporated city and hence does not appear in the census figures of that year, but those who lived here then say the population could not have been more than a few hundred. In 1910 the census report gives Glendale a population of 2742 and in 1920, 13,536, an increase of 393 per cent. Making an estimate from the registration of voters we know that Glendale's population today is in the neighborhood of 20,000. From the water and light connections that are being made it has been determined that the population is increasing at the rate of 5000 a year and figuring on the basis of a population of 20,000 this means an increase of 25 per cent a year.

In July of this year Glendale was sixth among California cities in the value of building permits issued, the order being Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Long Beach, Pasadena, Glendale, Pasadena's lead over Glendale being less than $33,000. Glendale's figure was $302,970 giving her the proud record of doing more building in proportion to her population than any city in the United States. In August of this year Glendale's building permits totalled $515,078 and during the first fifteen days of September permits amounted to $260,785. The total building in Glendale since the close of the war or from January 1, 1919 to September 15, 1920, totals $2,680,633.

Glendale is known everywhere as a clean town, her broad paved streets being the marvel of all visitors. Brand Boulevard, a paved street 120 feet in width extends through the center of the city from the mountains to the city limits of Los Angeles, a distance of 2.9 miles. Being jealous of the reputation of the city, Glendale people very generally keep their premises in neat condition. When lot owners are non-resident or for any other reason are careless in this respect the city looks after cleaning the weeds from the property.

In educational progress our city is not backward. A fine high school, ten grade schools in various sections of the city, and a church school take care of the needs of the young, while two city libraries are well patronized. Glendale has one of the largest woman's clubs in the state and other clubs, lodges and fraternal organizations thrive here. Two splendid new hospital buildings are now in course of construction.

Glendale is a clean city, morally. It is essentially a church town, nearly all denominations being represented. There has always been a determined effort on the part of the people as a whole to exclude anything that would tend to lower the moral tone of the community.

We welcome you, visitors to the Tractor Show and invite you to become residents of Glendale. If that is impossible, at least come again.

Dr. J. D. Camerer of 311 West Garfield avenue, thinks that Southern California, and Glendale in particular, is a great place to meet people from the old home back East. He spent the earlier years of his life in Kinmundy, Ill., and soon after he located here found one man who spent part of his boyhood in the old town, has entertained a son now stationed at San Diego in the naval service and has met two other men from the home city just recently.

A. T. Carpi and wife of 1611 South Glendale avenue were sitting in their home last evening about 7 o'clock, with no lights on, when they heard some one trying to pry open the front door, apparently. Mr. Carpi slipped out the back way and around to the front and Mrs. Carpi switched on the porch light, disclosing two masked men standing by the door. Mr. Carpi grappled with one of them, when he presented a revolver at his assailant's breast and commanded, "Hands off." Mr. Carpi, of course, let them go and they went south. Officers were hastily summoned but could get no trace of the would-be burglars.

Frank Bradley, wife and two children of Tela, Honduras, have been visiting his mother in Glendale for about 10 days and expect to start for home tomorrow. Frank works for the American Fruit Company in Honduras, where he has lived for several years except for possibly two years spent in Glendale and Los Angeles during the World War. He speaks and writes Spanish fluently and is a good accountant, so is considered a valuable employe by the fruit company, which finds it hard to induce really competent men to live in that land of earthquakes, tornadoes, and revolutions.

DENIES CHARGE

THAT HE SIGNED POOL-ROOM PETITION FOR RELIGIOUS REASONS

Rev. James S. O'Neill who with many others is favoring the establishment of a pool hall in Glendale says he is accused of signing the petition to the City Trustees asking them to amend the ordinance prohibiting places of amusement of this kind because B. L. Cushman, who is asking for a pool-room license is a member of his church. Rev. O'Neill says that is not his reason in favoring a place of amusement for the boys as Mr. Cushman is not a Catholic. "I have lived in Glendale thirteen years," said Father O'Neill, "and take as much pride as anyone in seeing Glendale kept clean morally. I don't want to see a 'hell-hole' established here, but I do want to see some place of amusement in Glendale that will keep the boys away from objectionable places in Los Angeles and other near-by towns where some of them are going now. Mr. Cushman has given his word to the business men who signed the petition that if he is given a license to conduct a pool-room he will conduct it without any objectionable features. "Those who oppose this move seem more concerned about keeping the town clean than about keeping the boys clean. Those who signed Mr. Cushman's petition have the welfare of the boys at heart. They are men who would not countenance a 'hell-hole' in Glendale for one minute but they would like to have the young men enjoy wholesome amusements under proper supervision rather than have them learn pernicious habits in the dives of Los Angeles. There is no such place here now."

PAY 16 PER CENT

WORKERS APPLY FOR $6,000,000
FORD INVESTMENT CERTIFICATES

The Board of Directors of the Ford Motor Company recently announced that the first semi-annual payment of Ford Investment Certificates would be eight per cent—three per cent guaranteed interest plus a five per cent bonus. This is at the rate of sixteen per cent a year.

In conjunction with the Ford Investment Plan, the Ford Motor Company pays employees a yearly cash bonus which is based on the number of years they have been with the company and the amount of wages they receive. This bonus may be applied toward the payment of Investment Certificates which are issued in $100, $500 and $1000 denominations. Certificates may also be purchased on the partial payment plan. They may be cashed for full value plus interest at any time, although the Company withholds the right to require thirty days' notice in writing of an employee's intent to demand payment.

The Ford Investment Plan provides an incentive for employees to save their money, and besides it offers them an opportunity to share more largely in the profits of the Company. That the plan is a success is indicated by the fact that approximately thirty per cent of all Ford employees are certificate holders, and that to date applications to the amount of $6,200,000 have been received. Between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars a day is being deposited by Ford workers toward certificates.

One interesting feature of the certificate is: "In case of the death of an employee holding a certificate, it becomes payable, together with accrued return, to his personal representative; at the discretion of the Board of Directors, however the certificate may be permitted to stand and to continue to draw returns for the benefit of the deceased employee's dependents."

Aeroplane Reporter

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 23. (United Press.)—The "Aeroplane reporter" is here. He is a member of the staff of the Baltimore Evening Sun and he flies a biplane, recently purchased by that paper, as a regular part of its newsgathering equipment. The "air reporter" is Lieutenant William D. Tipton, former United States Army aviator, who shot down seven German planes and one boche balloon on the French fighting front. He also was captured and held prisoner for a time by the Germans.

The Evening Sun purchased the plane to test out its practicability for quickly covering important news events at points in Maryland and neighboring states not easily accessible by train, boat or automobile, and also for taking unusual pictures. Lieut. Tipton on September 4th, flew thirty-five miles out to sea off the Delaware coast in an effort to photograph the submarine S-5, but the sunken craft was between 55 and 70 miles out and Tipton had positive instructions not to go more than 20 miles out, because of the inability of an airplane to "land" on water.

Aerial photographs of all sections of Baltimore have been taken from the plane and printed in the photograph section of the Sunday Sun. Among other photographs made was one of a train wreck and another of the battleship fleet in the Annapolis harbor.

One of the important uses for which the plane is intended is the covering of news events on the Eastern shore of Maryland. The geographical location of Baltimore in relation to points on the Eastern shore makes the gathering of news there by staff writers slow because of the time required to reach any of the towns by ordinary means of travel. With the plane in operation, practically every place on the Eastern shore by flying time is within an hour or so of Baltimore.

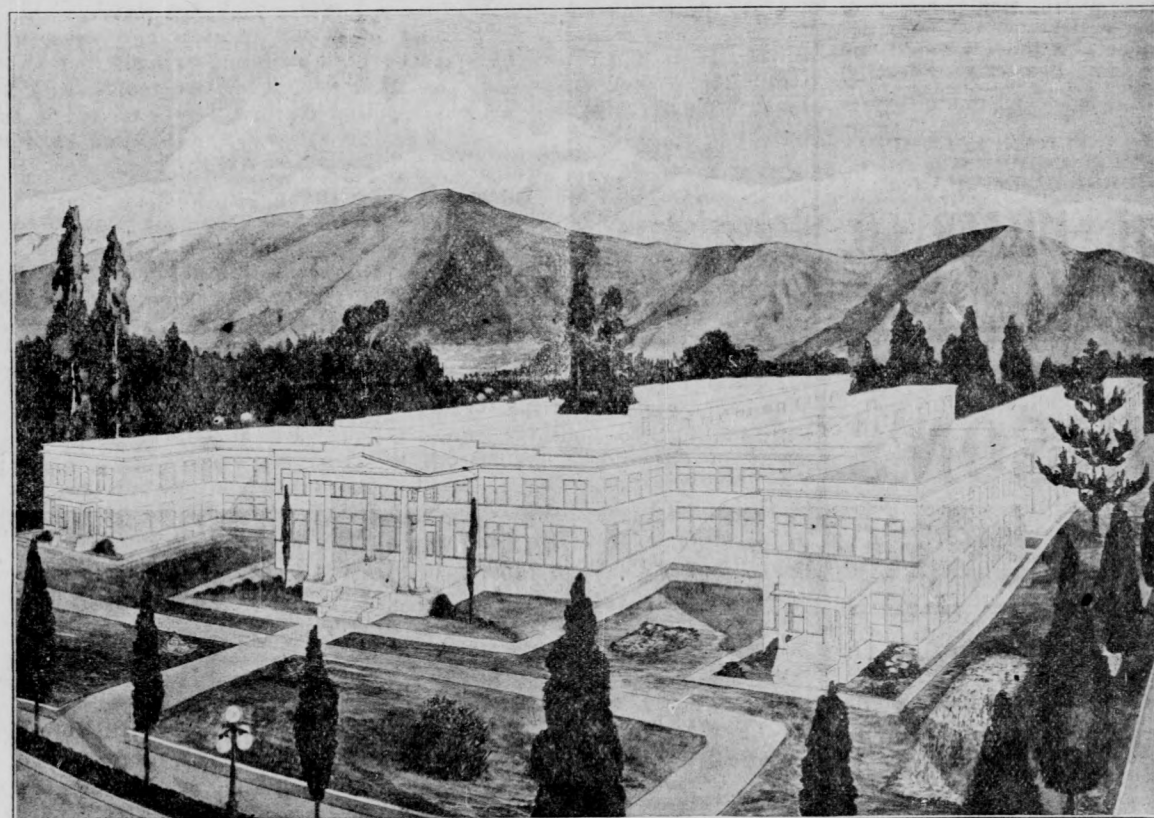

Affidavit Clears Men

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 23. (United Press.)—Soaked by the rains, buried beneath the snows and blown about the prairies by the winds of thirty-five years, a document which settles a point that history leaves in doubt has just been found near Regina.

It is an affidavit sworn to by Corporal Hugh J. A. Davidson of the Royal North West Mounted Police and affirms that the first shot of Louis Riel's second rebellion in 1885 was fired by his halfbreed followers. Some writers have contended that the whites precipitated the conflict that drenched western Canada in blood.

The first battle of the war was fought at Duck Lake, a village near the North Saskatchewan river at the northern limit of the lands which were left by Canada to the Hudson's Bay Company in 1870 and are now being closed out to farm settlers. Major Crozier in command of eighty settlers and North West Mounted Police fell in near the little settlement with a greatly superior force of rebels. While a parley was being held between the leaders, firing began. The fight lasted an hour. The half-

NEW BUILDING OF THE GLENDALE SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL, THE FIRST UNIT OF WHICH IS NOW BEING CONSTRUCTED

This institution is founded on the principle that nature alone can cure; that health, like disease, must come gradually by a process of growth and change; that at all times the body is working to maintain health and strength and when pain or disorder appears the proper functioning of the body is being prevented. This we correct and so put the body in a position to heal itself.

Are you tired, ill or sorrowing? Would you come here for treatment or rest? Your case will be given individual attention and nature's own aids to health, air, water, light, heat, electricity and a proper diet will be used to restore you.

Our Dining Room

is open to the public. It is conducted on the European plan and is appreciated by many who like a good, wholesome, vegetarian diet.

Prices in Scotland

A newspaper giving the prices of articles of food in Scotland says eggs are $1.25 per dozen, butter $1.00 per pound, beef $27.50 per hundred weight. The same publication states that it is impossible to rent a house in any of the large centers in Scotland. The tenant who pays his rent promptly cannot be ejected from the premises without at least a three years' notice. This condition makes it impossible to purchase residence property, for when it has been purchased the purchaser is unable to get possession of it.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Reduction in price of Ford product. The war is over and war prices must go. Effective at once Ford Cars, Trucks and Tractors will be sold F. O. B. Detroit at the following prices:

Touring Car, regular	$440
Touring with starter	510
Runabout, regular	395
Runabout with starter	465
Chassis	360
Coupe with starter and demountable rims	745
Sedan with starter and demountable rims	795
Truck, pneumatic tires	545
Tractor	790

The Ford Motor Company makes this reduction in the face of the fact that they have on hand immediate orders for 146,065 cars and tractors. The Company will but suffer a temporary loss while using up the material bought at high prices. They are willing to make the sacrifice in order to bring business back to a going condition as quickly as possible and maintain the momentum of the buying power of the country.

Henry Ford says, "The war is over and it is time war prices were over. There is no sense or wisdom in trying to maintain an artificial standard of value. For the best interest of all, it is time a real practical effort was made to bring the business of the country and the life of the country down to regular pre-war standard."

We are at your command with regular Ford efficiency in service and eagerness to fill your orders.

BACK TO THE OLD FARM

Senator Harding is entirely right in urging a return to the farm as one of the means of economic salvation. The drift to the cities has seriously depleted farm labor. Yet the need of increased production of food products is apparent. The question is not one of wages, for the farmers have been unable to get enough hands at any price.

The lure of city life is a familiar explanation of the tendency away from the farm. Men are gregarious animals, and the solitude of the country attracts them less than the social activity of the city. To young ambition "the lights o' London" or any other big town have had an alluring glamour. But conditions in this respect have changed greatly in recent years. The telephone and the automobile, for example, have brought hitherto isolated neighborhoods into close relations with the rest of the world. The traditional loneliness of the farm now has many pleasing alleviations.

Yet more will be gained by trying to keep the boys on the farm instead of seeking city labor for farm work. Those unused to such work from youth seldom take to it or do it very well.

GROWING SCARCITY OF FUEL FOR POWER PURPOSES

From time to time it has been positively stated, and perhaps as many times denied, that alcohol for heating or power purposes may be made economically in the West Indies or other tropic or semi-tropic localities, from the waste of sugar cane in the manufacture of sugar or molasses.

Rum is commonly distilled from molasses or other products of sugar cane, and it is entirely feasible to make fuel or power alcohol from the plant. The only question is as to the practicability of so doing on a large scale at a cost low enough to make the alcohol an economic competitor with or substitute for coal, gasoline or other fuels.

It has been said that this result actually was had in the West Indies long ago, but that the oil king in the United States managed to gain control of the alcohol industry in the islands with a view to its suppression, which was accomplished.

But of late in England official investigation has been had with a view to determine the possibility of making an alcohol substitute or alternative for petroleum in power production. And the report is that this is not economically practicable on a sufficient scale in Great Britain or elsewhere in the British empire.

The British commission so reporting regards coal as furnishing the greatest promise for future emergency, despite steady reduction of the visible supply. One reason given for this somewhat surprising conclusion is that comparatively little of the potential heating power of coal is actually obtained in its common consumption.

And Edison has been widely quoted as saying that not more than 10 per cent of the potential energy of the coal burnt in this country is actually utilized.

It is, of course, well known that a vast development of water power is still to be made. But there is much to hope from the introduction of better methods in the use of coal, and also there are interesting possibilities of the economic production of alcohol for fuel purposes on a large scale.

THE PAPER-COVERED BOOK

A merry war is going on in the book world over the question whether books should or should not be issued in paper covers, and so passed on to the public more quickly and cheaply.

Judging from the letters and comments which have appeared, the public would receive the paper-bound volume with joy. The publishers are not so keen about it. Can it be that the publisher makes an added rake-off when he sells a handsome binding?

Two pertinent suggestions have been made in favor of the paper-covered book. The first is that a saving of 10 to 20 per cent in the price of a book means more than in almost any other commodity, for the book-lover as a rule is not over-burdened with wealth. An added 10 or 25 or 50 cents, as the case may be, marks all the difference between possession and going without. The second suggestion is just as forcible, it is that most books today are not worth reading, let alone keeping, and that in common honesty such stuff should be cheap.

About the simplest way to settle the matter would be for some enterprising publisher to put out a big line of books in both forms, permanent bindings and paper covers as many foreign publishers do, and see what the American public wants.

The woolen trust's fall prices are down 20 per cent. There, now! Don't jump to the conclusion that this means cheaper clothing.

dugo Park for a public playground and I believe this is something we should have done years ago, but we should get busy about it now.

I would suggest that our city trustees, who have the interest of our beautiful city at heart, find a way of investigating the possibility of getting as much of Verdugo Park as can be had for a public recreation ground, and I believe the owners of this property would do their share in making a reasonable price, so the city could buy it and put this up to the voters at the next election to acquire such property and create a public recreation and playground if possible similar to Brookside in Pasadena, creating many facilities such as swimming pool, tennis courts, and the like. This would not alone provide a place for our boys, but a place for our girls, and also for all the citizens, and I firmly believe that all our citizens that either favor or oppose the proposition of the pool halls, will vote any reasonable amount for such a purpose.

This would relieve the trustees of the present agitation for and against public pool rooms, and then some of our public societies, for instance the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A.

and others might find a way of obtaining halls of their own where respective members and friends might find such diversions as games and maybe billiards, these being under the supervision of these societies, so as to take away the objection to the regular public pool hall which in many places is not of a very elevating character, and not lower the standard of the Glendale places of amusement. This would insure the tranquility of ourselves and fellow citizens who have the best interests of the city at heart, and I believe we would all like to have Glendale known as a clean city kept clean in one respect as well as another. I herewith want to pay my compliments to our city officers. As we look over our vacant lots recently cleaned by city ordinance I think we have the best-governed and cleanest-kept little city of homes in Southern California AND MAY IT REMAIN SO.

READING CIRCLE

MEETING HELD YESTERDAY AT PUBLIC LIBRARY, MRS. BARTON PRESIDING

The regular meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle was held on Wednesday afternoon at the public library, with the new president, Mrs. A. A. Barton of 630 Howard street, in charge. A paper was read by Mrs. Harry Dewey on an article taken from the Atlantic Monthly, entitled, "Boys and Girls." The article was a plea for the association together of boys and girls of ages from twelve to eighteen. The substance of the paper is found in the following quotation: "Boys and girls should be getting their ideas about one another, and learning a little common sense."

A committee was appointed to visit different towns in Southern California, and speak publicly for the formation of new Mutual Benefit Reading Circles. Mrs. Charles Burr was appointed chairman, to be assisted by Mesdames W. W. Stofft, Charles Crawford, J. I. Wernette and A. H. Brown. One of these ladies will speak in the Garvey School, near San Gabriel, this week, and organize a Reading Circle there.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, Our beloved leader and co-worker, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, who for a period of four years, with untiring energy and an open home, has brought the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle into national prominence, having now accepted a call into a larger field, the multitudinous duties of which will prevent her giving us the time and attention which she has in the past, it is with the deepest regret and affection that we relinquish our friend and benefactress to the call of a greater work. Therefore, Be it resolved, that we, the members of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle of Glendale, do extend our love and appreciation to Mrs. Toll for the work she has done for the motherhood of Glendale, our sincere good wishes, and our moral support to her in her new work."

"Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to Mrs. Toll, and to each of the local papers."

The resolutions were signed by all the members.

The meeting then adjourned for lunch at the library. In the afternoon, Mrs. A. A. Barton read a paper on "The Moral Fitness for Parenthood."

CLYDE M. SUDLOW

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD AT LITTLE CHURCH OF FLOWERS, MASONS IN CHARGE

It was a beautiful and impressive scene when the friends and relatives of Clyde M. Sudlow gathered in The Little Church of the Flowers to pay their last tribute to the beloved dead.

The casket was surrounded by a most beautiful collection of floral tributes, remembrances from his many friends in Glendale and the organizations with which he had been affiliated. Large pieces of rare beauty from his friends employed by the Southern California Edison Company, testified mutely of the respect and esteem of those with whom he had been most closely associated. Mr. Sudlow was a thoughtful and loving husband and father; an unselfish man who was a friend to many and his passing will be felt by all with whom he came in contact.

The pallbearers were Masons of the Southern California Edison Company. Services were conducted by Rev. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Glendale. Mrs. Charles Retts sang beautiful solos during the service at the church. The funeral services at the grave were in charge of the Masons. Hugh Shang, past master of Sunset lodge, presided; he was assisted by Frederick Baker, one of the members of Unity Lodge No. 268 F. & A. M., of Glendale, of which the deceased was a member.

Clyde M. Sudlow was born in New Plymouth, Ohio, February 7, 1882. He graduated from the Electrical Engineering Department of Ohio University in 1901. In June, 1910, he was united in marriage to Emma J. Grumbling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grumbling of Glendale. They resided at Butte, Mont., where Mr. Sudlow was employed by the Montana Light & Power Company until the summer of 1917, at which time he was employed by the Southern California Edison Company as an electrical engineer.

His family, consisting of his wife and two children, Marjory aged eight years and Donald, aged five years, reside at 202 East Garfield. He is survived also by his mother, four sisters and three brothers, all living in Ohio. One brother, Clifford, from New Plymouth, Ohio, arrived in Glendale to attend the funeral services.

The man who can come across with his campaign subscription without becoming cross is a real party patriot.

Many a man has failed to be elected to office because he talked about so many things he knew little about.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, however, say that Glendale is good enough for them.

OUR FUTURE OIL SUPPLY

The increase of consumption of gasoline from 15,000,000 barrels in 1910 to 94,000,000 barrels in 1919, is the measure of the growth in the use of the automobile. It is possible that we are approaching the point of saturation as far as the pleasure car is concerned, but we, probably, are but on the threshold of the use of trucks and tractors. It is not astonishing, therefore, that there should be concern about the source of fuel to drive the vast number of internal combustion engines that will be turned out in the next few years. Were there no increase in the number of gasoline driven vehicles our present sources of supply of fuel would be hard put to meet the demand.

And this is but one phase of the oil business that is perplexing those who look to the future. The extent to which oil is being used as the fuel on ocean steamers demands that new fields shall be revealed in far greater volume than has been the case in the past. Because it is proposed to have oil in large measure supplant coal in the steamer lines is due the activity of governments in securing control of possible oil producing territory. There are but two means of meeting the increased demand: Tapping new pools or resorting to the extraction of oil from oil-bearing shales.

The first of these methods is the more appealing for it possesses the attraction that has always been the driving principle in the search for oil—the promise of great gain if one "hits it." Its speculative feature is the lodestone that has drawn so many to invest in prospective oil development, a course that has enriched some and meant loss for others. But we must produce more oil, or some gigantic enterprises become a loss. Promise of a substitute for gasoline, often held out as a hope, is not bright because of the enormous quantity that would be required and the price at which it could be produced. In case the drill does not develop new fields of sufficient magnitude it may be necessary to resort to the more prosy and less suddenly enriching process of producing oil from shales. The United States geological survey estimates that a few mountain states in the west contain enough shale to produce ten times the amount of oil that the United States ever has produced or can produce. Therein lies hope when other resources fail, though to get that oil would involve less romantic process than drilling a hole in the ground from which it is hoped great riches will suddenly flow.

However, because it involves establishing a vast new industry that involves mining as well as the process of extracting the oil from the shale, it is not probable that oil from such a source will become much of a factor in the market until the situation as regards supply makes it absolutely necessary. Investors will prefer to spend their money trying for something that offers greater and quicker profits. But it is reassuring to be told that there is a source of supply of fuel for the automobile and grease to keep it running smoothly even should the oil cease to flow from the earth in sufficient quantities to meet the demand of the many industries that are dependent on it.

It takes something stronger than soft drinks to arouse a man's affection for the barkeeper about closing time.

RED APPLE COUNTRY

F. W. MILLER AND WIFE DESERT YAKIMA VALLEY FOR GLENDALE

F. W. Miller and wife, who had raised red apples in the Yakima Valley, Washington, for several years, suddenly decided that they would seek a more equable climate, so they sold their apple ranch, packed their auto with camping necessities and started south. They arrived in Los Angeles early in August and for a few weeks spent the time in sight-seeing and looking for a location. Hearing of Glendale, they came out here, fell in love with the city and began looking around for a place to buy. Hearing that Andrew O'Connell's restaurant, in the Ollie Logan building at the corner of Stocker and Central avenue was for sale, they investigated and finally bought it. They are making several changes to the interior of the store and will enlarge the scope of the business.

On Monday they had the pleasure of greeting two of their old neighbors, L. W. Christie and wife, who were en route by auto to Mexico to take up land. They said about seventy-five other families from their neighborhood were doing likewise.
